Before you begin

Use US crochet terms. Chain 3 counts as one double crochet. Work seven joined rounds. The bubble stitches are made on the wrong side and pushed through to the right side; BoSt and BuSt both mean bubble stitch in this source.

Each bubble consists of five unfinished double crochets in the same stitch, leaving six loops before the final pull-through. The full written method and original photo tutorial are included. Round 3 has six bubbles, and round 6 has eighteen.

The trivet measures approximately 9 inches before felting and 7-8 inches after; the result varies with the washing machine. Follow the source hot-cycle felting instructions and shape while wet. This trivet cannot withstand extremely high temperatures; use it for warm bowls, plates or teapots, as the original note states.

Before and after felting:

The trivet on the left is what the piece will look like before felting. It measures approx. 9” in diameter. On the right, you can see the finished trivet after felting. The finished measurement depends on how much your washing machine felts the piece and can vary between 7”- 8” in diameter.

Round 7 & felting | 2

Cut yarn and weave in ends. Wash the trivet in a machine on a hot cycle to felt. If it is not felted enough after the first wash, run it work one more cycle. Shape while wet by pushing all of the bubble stitches into shape as needed.

Note: The trivet cannot withstand extremely high temperatures, but it is perfect for warm bowls, plates or teapots.
